Another Pioneer Passes Away

With the death of Mr. George Smith on Saturday morning last, after but a short illness, this district loses one of its best known citizens, and the many friends and acquaintances he had made during his long residence here will regret his passing.

The funeral, which was held in the Evangelical Church, was one of the largest ever held here. The members of both the Masonic and Oddfellows' Lodges, and a large number of friends, were in attendance. The funeral was conducted by Rev. H. E. Roper, who took for his sermon the text, "Haven."

At the graveside, after the usual committal was made by the officiating minister, the Masonic Lodge performed the last rites of the Order to a departed brother. The Oddfellows also made their last farewell tribute.

The following members of the Masonic Lodge acted as pallbearers: Messrs. McGinnis, Philipson, Brusso, Tanjani, Pearson, and J. E. Liesener.

George Frederick Smith was born at Hermann, Missouri on January 5, 1860, and died in his late home in Didsbury on Saturday morning, March 7th, 1931, in his 63rd year.

In his infancy, his parents moved to Sedalia, Missouri, where he was reared to manhood. In 1892, he was married to Miss Anna Ebeling, and a few years later, in 1900 they came to western Canada, and took up a homestead a few miles east of Didsbury, Alberta. After nine years of pioneering on this homestead, they moved with their family to the town of Didsbury, after which Mr. Smith took up contracting in carpenter work, which he continued up to his recent illness and death.

The deceased leaves to mourn his departure: a sorrowing widow, and two daughters, the Misses Lucille, and Laura, all at home in Didsbury, also his father, 83 years of age, residing in Missouri. Several children preceded him in death.

WEDDING

SNYDER-KELSEY

On Wednesday, March 4th, 1931 at 12 o'clock noon, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Snyder, when their daughter, Erna May, in the presence of the family, and a few friends, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Harry Kelsey. Rev. C. J. Hallman performed the ceremony. The bride, beautifully dressed in soft, sand-colored silk crepe, carried a pretty bouquet of white and yellow carnations, and was attended by her sister, Miss Viola Snyder, who was dressed in harmonizing color. The ceremony was the conventional one, being witnessed by Mr. Herli Dedes.

After the ceremony, a beautiful dinner was served under the canopy of white and yellow streamers and wedding-bells. The happy couple then left for a short honeymoon, returning Friday evening, when a reception was given in their honor by the bride's parents.

About fifty friends gathered to enjoy the evening, and offer their congratulations to the new bride and groom.

BIRTHS

At the Didsbury General Hospital.

To Mr. and Mrs. Glen Johnston, on March 3rd a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. R. Irvin on March 8th, a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. Folkert, on March 5th, a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dick on March 7th a daughter.

To Mr. and Mrs. L. Chandler, on March 10th, a son.

To Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dick, on March 11th, a son.

Mr. Smith was well and favorably known by a large circle of citizens in this and other neighboring districts, and their united heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family in this hour of their sorrow and bereavement.

LOCAL & GENERAL

"The Big House" a romance that vies with drama for thrills! at the Opera House tonight (Thursday). All talking picture.

Arlene Boyce will hold a community sale the last week in March. If you have anything to sell, call C. E. Reiber, phone 90.—Advt.

English Watches, Grandfather Clocks, and Chimes. Everything Ancient and Modern. Bring it to W. Monteith, North End Jeweller.

The "Y" girls are having a St. Patrick's tea at the home of Miss Freda Moon Saturday March 14th from 2 to 6 p.m. We invite you to come and have tea with us, and your patronage will be appreciated.

Mrs. E. Cressman and little son of Hillcrest have been visiting here the past week. She had to take the lay-by to Calgary Hospital on Tuesday for medical treatment.

Watch for the date of the appearance of "Miss Cherry Blossom," which will be given by the United Church Choir, of Olds, at the Didsbury Opera House in the near future.

A General Hospital for sick Watches, Clocks, Phonographs, Sewing Machines, Etc., in front corner of Chib Lunch. All work guaranteed.—Advt.

The March meeting of the "Y" girls was held at home of Miss Clara Barkholder on Tuesday evening, March 3rd with the president, Margaret Kercher in the chair. During the devotional period Mrs. Matlock read the scripture. The main topic of discussion for the meeting was the "St. Patrick's Tea" to be held at the home of Miss Freda Moon on Saturday, March 14th. Mrs. Hombert gave the topic "Coordinating," and certainly rendered a wonderful talk, which the girls thoroughly enjoyed. After a dainty lunch, the meeting adjourned. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Eva Jansen on Tuesday, April 7th 7.45 p.m.

CURLING

The cold snap this week has encouraged the followers of the "roaring game" that they may get a few nights at curling before spring really arrives.

Mr. W. Pitt set to work and got the ice in shape, a scratch game being pulled off on Monday night. On Tuesday night, the first games of the new schedule which has been arranged, were played.

On Saturday night last, two rinks from here went to Carstairs to engage in friendly games with the curlers of that town.

A Bruise won against W. Shantz and C. F. Dooley skipping the same rink, got the best of DeBoa.

McGhee's rink had the edge on W. Wood's, but lost to L. Liesener, with D. Sinclair as skip.

On Monday, two other Didsbury rinks played at Carstairs. Johnson's rink won both their games against Black and De Boe, while Edward's rink beat that of W. Shantz, but lost to the Pepper rink.

Coming Events

St. Cyril's W.A. is holding a Shamrock Tea and Sale of Home cooking, Tuesday, March 17th at the home of Mrs. J. H. Lawrie. Everybody welcome.

Oddfellows St. Patrick's Dance in the Opera House, March 17th.

McGhee's "Go-Gatters" are giving two plays: "Pa's New Housekeeper," and "Hans Van Smash," and a dance in Melvin School, March 20th. Admission: 25c. each for the plays. For the dance: Gents 25c. each. Good music.

Burnside Notes

Mrs. Bert Pross spent last week visiting friends in Didsbury.

Mrs. Anthony Purris of Acme spent last week visiting Mrs. A. E. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson and family spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clarke and family.

Messrs. Albert Arlendsen, Clifford Arlendsen, Jim Mackie, and another friend went to Calgary on Saturday in Mr. Albert Arlendsen's new car, and spent a most enjoyable week-end with friends.

About 40 attended the Lone Pine W. L. meeting at Mrs. A. Jenkins on Thursday last, and helped her and her husband celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Miss Winnie Sprague read Mrs. Woods' paper on "Tomb Culture", and Mrs. Jack Elbert read one on "Legislation" bearing on local elections and the candidates and their qualifications. After the business was finished the President Mrs. Noah Eckel made a speech, expressing the pleasure of all present on the occasion of this happy event, and voicing the wish of friends and neighbours that they might all be present 35 years hence to help celebrate their hostess' golden wedding anniversary. On behalf of the Institute the secretary, Mrs. Thompson then presented Mrs. Jenkins with a case of silver. They were also the recipients of many more presents. Mrs. Jenkins replied thanking the ladies for the gifts and all the good wishes. Mr. Jenkins also thanked them all on behalf of himself and wife. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Marden on the 2nd Thursday in March.

Golfers Are Funny----

When they drive, they walk. However carefully they address the ball, they are more or less surprised if it goes where they want it.

They leave the "tee," and go off with the "ready."

If they "top" the ball, it is the opposite to a "topping" shot. Truth may be applied to them, but they prefer a good "lie."

They can "halve" a hole, and still leave it "whole."

They join a club, and then provide others of their own.

They finish a "round all-square."

Canadian Citizenship

The question arises more or less frequently in the minds of thoughtful Canadians whether the obtaining of the rights and privileges of citizenship by people of other than British birth has not, in the past and up to this present time, been made entirely too easy and more a matter of form than the vitally important matter of national policy it undoubtedly is.

There can be no escaping the fact that, in these Western Provinces at all events, thousands of people have taken out naturalization papers, thereby becoming Canadian citizens and British subjects, with no higher motive than to secure title to 160 acres of lands in which in all other respects they had become entitled by virtue of having performed the specified settlement and cultivation duties. Hundreds of others have applied for and secured citizenship papers because they found it paid and good business to do so, and the heads of men have taken the same step because of pressure brought to bear upon them to do so in order that they may vote.

Admittedly these are not very high or worthy motives on the part of those thus granted all the citizenship rights and privileges accruing to native-born Canadians and others of British birth. But, on the other hand, is it not a fact that large numbers of men who became Canadian citizens in the past have taken the same step because of pressure brought to bear upon them to do so in order that they may vote.

Unquestionably these things are true, but, nevertheless, the question remains insistent whether even these gratifying developments would not have been better encouraged if the securing of the rights of citizenship had not been quite so easy, a more matter of form and the observance of a certain amount of official red tape. And, too, it must also be admitted that, while thousands of people who accepted citizenship in a more or less indifferent and haphazard manner have proved themselves wholly worthy of the rights and privileges thus conferred upon them, other thousands have not done so.

It may now be questioned whether Canada was wise to make 160 acres of land the price of citizenship, notwithstanding that it would probably have been even more unwise to have granted full legal title to homesteads to unscrupulous aliens. However, what is past is past and cannot now be undone. But what of the future?

Valuable as the grant of a free homestead may have been, its value is small to that attaching to Canadian citizenship. That is the fact we must realize. Citizenship is the greatest of all rights, and confers the most valuable and precious privileges any person can enjoy. And in the giving or withholding of citizenship, the State may be deciding its own future for good or ill.

Because this is true, there is much to be said in support of the view that no pressure of any kind should be brought on any person to become a citizen, that the act of naturalization should be a purely voluntary act, free from any pressure or influence. Further, that the State should exercise its prerogative and confer citizenship only upon those likely to prove worthy of it. Finally, that instead of the act of naturalization being a mere formality, it should be made a very solemn act, surrounded with dignity, and the ceremony of administering the oath of citizenship such as to impress upon the applicant a clear realization of what he is doing, the meaning of the pledges he gives, and the responsibilities he thereby assumes.

It may be necessary to change the present law in order to bring this about. In all probability such change will be necessary. Very well, then; let us change the law. It can at best be little more than a change of form. But if it is made in the right way, and if the privilege of Canadian citizenship be applied by us at its true value, the whole spirit of the act of naturalization will be changed, and those seeking citizenship will realize that it is a heritage we guard jealously, one we do not confer lightly or merely at a price, but one we deem to be the highest privilege within our power to extend to a fellow-man or woman. Then, and not till then, will the words: "I am a Canadian citizen" hold the full value of Paul's proud boast of old: "Civis Romanus Sum."

Invents Infant 'Plane

Genese Claims Speed Of Sixty Miles An Hour

An aeroplane, 66 pounds, which converts a pilot into a "flying man" is the brain child of a young Genese inventor. It consists of two wings, 18 feet wide, a rudder and elevator, and a five-horsepower motor. The 'plane, which has a small propeller, is fastened to the shoulders and back of the pilot, who wears skis. As the pilot skis along with the assistance of the motor, he gathers enough momentum to take off. The inventor claims a speed of 60 miles an hour for the infant 'plane, which has a parachute large enough to bring both pilot and 'plane safely to earth.

Should Cut War Budgets

Advocates Plan For Debtor Nations Of United States To Improve Conditions

Edward N. Hurley, who was a member of the Great War Foreign debts commission, said in an address prepared for delivery before the Chicago association of commerce that the 16 debtor nations of the United States should cut their war budgets and the United States should simultaneously reduce their war debts.

He said the debtor nations were formerly the best customers of the United States had, and that if this country reduced the war debts the same countries would return to United States markets for goods, causing a profitable resumption in industry and export markets.

He suggested a 30-year plan whereby the total reduction would amount to fifty per cent. of the total war debts due the United States, with but a slight tax increase in the United States.

Jap Aviator Back To Work

Conqueror Of Three Continents Returns To California Cafe

Zensaku Azuma, 35-year-old Japanese aviator and café proprietor, of Pasadena, Cal., is back dispensing coffee after conquering three continents by air.

Azuma told a welcoming crowd of his lone flight across North America, Europe and Asia, of his victorious landing in Tokyo, August 31, 1930, and of the many dangers, some attended by royalty, given in his honor.

Azuma bought a little, open cockpit 'plane with the profits of his café. He flew to New York, shipped his plane to England and cruised on to Tokyo. He was welcomed as a hero in the army aviation corps during the Great War.

"If the chop suey business holds up," Azuma said, "I may try a trans-Pacific flight."

ACID causes Headaches

When there's too much acid in your stomach, you must force yourself to work, and even pleasures are too great an effort. Appetite lags, the digestion is poor; the whole system suffers.

Laboratory tests show an acid condition is due to errors in our modern diet. But you need not wait to diet your way out of the trouble!

Take a tablespoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This will neutralize the excess acid instantly; make you feel like a new person in just a few moments.

Take a little whenever heartburn, sick headaches, nausea, flatulence, indigestion or biliousness show the digestive system is becoming too acid. Whenever you are taking cold or feel sluggish, weak, constipated, Phillips' Milk of Magnesia has a gentle, laxative action.

Delightful to take. Endorsed by physicians for 50 years and prescribed everywhere for men, women and children. The genuine is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. It always bears the name Phillips for your protection.

Demand For Empire Products

Another Empire Shop Is Opened At Birmingham, England

Another "Empire Shop" was opened at Birmingham recently, the first in England. The first of these shops in the British Isles was opened at Glasgow last year, and William Lunn, M.P., under-secretary for Dominion affairs, said at the opening that 110,000 samples had been sold at the Glasgow shop. The traders in Glasgow had found the demand for Empire products definitely increasing.

Sir Charles Howell Thomas, on behalf of the ministry of agriculture, accepting tenancy of the Birmingham shop, said the public was more and more realizing the wonderful value of Empire products.

Complaint Is Justified

Many Tourists Have Craze For Defacing Beauty Spots

The council of a popular holiday resort in Scotland, who complain of the writing of names and advertisements on the rocks, are not alone, of course, in their grievance, for scribbling seems to be a craze with tourists the world over, says the Herald. The trouble people take in the perpetration of such outrages is remarkable. A few years ago, in Norway, an English visitor went to the labor and expense of obtaining an indiarubber box, in which he rowed out beneath a certain famous cliff, landed at great risk of his life, climbed a yard or two up the almost perpendicular rock, and painted his initials in big, white letters—just to prove, as he explained, that he had been there, offensive as they may be, however, such pranks are mild in comparison with other tourist outrages on record—as when an American, being shown over a shrine in Italy, was told a certain lamp had not been allowed to go out for centuries, whereupon he immediately extinguished it, remarking "It's out now."

Suffered From Heart Trouble

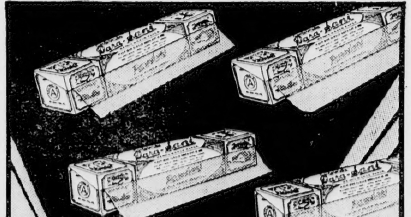

Became Weak and Run Down

Mrs. Wm. Diette, Glenside, Ont., writes:—"For a long time I suffered from heart trouble, and became very weak and run down. I tried various remedies, but they did me no good. One day I met a friend and told her of my trouble. She said she had had heart trouble for two years, but after using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for a short time she had been relieved of her trouble, so I got two boxes and after taking them I was again feeling fine, and always recommend H. & N. More Attention Must Be Paid By Hog Raisers To Feeding And Marketing In Best Condition

During the past few years Canadian hog producers have been able to congratulate themselves on the vast improvement that has been made to the quality of their hogs and pork products. Packers have been glad to join in acknowledging the full this improvement. It meant that producers and packers were enabled to supply the demand for fine quality bacon to a great extent each year.

But throughout this whole period it has been evident that much more attention was being paid to type and breeding than to feeding and marketing in the proper condition and at the most desirable weights. It appears impossible for producers to realize that consumer demand is definite, clear-cut and exacting. It will not take a product from the producer simply because it is what he has to have at the time or that he finds it easiest to supply.

In the pork trade there are two requirements of consumptive demand.

These three cuts of bacon, all from good types of hogs, show the results in the meat of different methods of feeding the animals. The difference in the thickness of the lean and fat and their relation to each other should be clearly noted. The picture shows very plainly how good breeding is spoiled by bad feeding.

The one relates to weight of the cuts—the other to quality of the meat. This demand is almost constant. In the export trade there is an almost constant demand for a certain percentage of Wilshire sides weighing from fifty to fifty-five pounds, another constant percentage for sides of fifty-five to sixty pounds, and again another constant percentage for sides of sixty to sixty-five pounds, and so on. In the domestic market certain percentages of the total product of hams or bacon of specified weights are definitely required. A percentage of the trade requires two to twelve pound hams and other percentage twelve to fourteen pounds, etc. Similar weights apply to other cuts.

In the same way there is definite demand as to the quality of meat and the amount of fat. The bulk of the trade wants lean, but not too lean meat. Another section requires a somewhat fatter, but not too fat, meat. To disregard this demand brings heavy penalties from the consumer.

It appears difficult for the producer to grasp these facts or to apply them to his production method. The result is a varying supply with which to meet a constant demand. The producer is inclined to view it as a varying demand and to complain that he never knows what the market does want. But the situation is very simple. Demand is constant. When the producer is sending to market more light and lean hogs than the percentage required by the trade that absorbs this product, there is a discount on these hogs. When the producer is sending to the market more of the heavier weights, even though not over-finished, than the percentage wanted by the trade using such weights of product, it is the over-finish, not any change in demand, that depresses the price of cuts from hogs of these weights. When, however, the producer adds over-finish to the extent of extreme fatness to an excessive percentage of the heavier weight hogs the result is serious trouble with the consuming trade.

It should thus be abundantly clear why Canadian packers for years have been urging producers to improve their feeding methods and to market hogs at more suitable weights and finish. For several years light weights and lack of finish have been emphasized as undesirable. Now the situation is reversed. Hogs are over-fat and too big a percentage are above the most desired weights. This has made necessary a revision of price differentials between the grades. If the evil continues further steps will have to be taken to correct it. The necessity is not due to any change in consumer demand, but to change in produced supply. The objective is to bring the supply back to the requirements of the demand, just as it was when too many hogs were light and under-finished.

The select and bacon grades of hogs in Canada were planned to take up the full range of desirable weight and quality. But it was recognized that the two hundred pound weight was standard because the bulk of demand centred on the cuts from this weight of hog. So, too, certain definite standards of finish are called for. If there are variations within the average variations within the fitters give a fair distribution of weights of cuts according to demand. But when, as now, weights are being thrown out of balance through excessive feeding, the large percentage of the heavier and fat cuts resulting is creating very serious difficulties.

The reason for such variations in marketing weights of hogs is, of course, expediency in feeding. But is this a reasonable reason? The producer has been inclined to believe it is, and if feed supplies were low that he was justified in marketing at light weights, and if feed were plentiful he had a right to pack his hogs to top weights. But surely the trend of the dramatic events of the past year must give us all pause. If any considerable volume of Canadian bacon had to find a market in Britain the present average quality would render much of it unmarketable. It is with difficulty, even though aided by low supplies, that it is being marketed at home.

It is, then, unreasonable to insist that producers must definitely turn away from slipshod expediency to the practice of sound production methods? We are low in hog numbers, but it is shortsighted policy to spoil the few that we have through trying to make three hogs eat the feed that four should consume.

Named Auditor

Charles Blake Gordon, appointed Auditor of Disbursements, Canadian Pacific Railway, from January 1, 1931, entered the service of the railway in 1883 as an stenographer in the vice-president's office. In the same year he was appointed secretary to the president, then Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, with whom he remained till 1910 when he was appointed secretary-treasurer of the Kettle Valley Railway Company in British Columbia. From 1914 to 1919 he was on military service and in 1919 was appointed treasurer of the Kettle Valley Railway, afterwards becoming controller of the line. He left that position on promotion to his present post at the beginning of the year.

Predicts Science Will End Depression

Professor Believes Some New Discoveries Will Boost Business

It was predicted at a science symposium in New York, sponsored by the American Institute, that science will end the current business depression by developing some new product as widely used as the radio or the automobile.

It may be, Dr. H. H. Sheldon, professor of physics at New York University, said, ultra-violet light as a substitute for sunlight indoors, artificial weather, aviation safety devices, electric clocks or automatic refrigeration.

Commercialization of scientific discoveries has ended depression in the past by creating new mass-production industries that gave jobs to the unemployed, said Dr. Sheldon, citing the radio, automobile, telephone, bicycle, electric dynamo and clipper ship.

An Incentive To Thrift

New Clock Cuts Rims If Money Is Deposited Daily

An ingenious incentive to thrift—a quality for which the French people are justly famous—is provided by a device recently placed on the market. It is a clock which is at the same time a savings bank. Unless one feeds it a franc, or two francs, or three francs, as the case may be, each day, it will not run. The owner of the clock if he does not wish the openly accusing face of the timepiece to stare at him heartlessly, apologetically and silently, must therefore make his savings deposit as regularly as he would wind his alarm clock. In an age when time payments can be made on almost anything, the savings clock will probably assist many people in paying their instalments promptly.

Canada Has Stepped Up To Second Place Among Gold Producers Of The World

May Use Bay Route

Railways Of Continent Could Be Granted Running Rights By Government

If the government grants them privileges, the Hudson Bay Railway line is open to the railways of the continent. J. A. Campbell, K.C., said in an address at The Pas, Mr. Campbell, former member of parliament, was noted as a strong advocate of the bay route, via Churchill, when the route was first proposed.

Canadian National Railway, he said, was operating the line for the time being, but, if the government desired they could give any railway in Canada or the United States running rights over the line to Hudson Bay. The Canadian Pacific Railway, he thought, would likely seek running rights as soon as practical testing of the route is completed.

DIGNIFIED AND LOVELY

All Tingey models are created and sketched in Paris and the patterns are made in New York.

Matrons, consider well this beautiful dress, for it has many features which may serve you admirably.

It is wrap over, new, delightful in cut and slimming—the pretty lines of the skirt being carried on into the bodice by means of the graceful scarf.

Various fascinating silks, such as maroon, fawn, de chine, satin, etc., can be used for the dress, while black, deep red, wine and carmine shades, green, grey, soft blues, beige, etc., are color suggestions.

With black, a canella or two either white or pink will be a most attractive relief looked into the knot of the bow. The belt buckle can be of brass. With colors, colored stones give a charming touch. Turquoise also is very modern.

This pattern may be obtained in sizes 16 to 20 and 34 to 42. It is ready for immediate delivery. It is hand cut.

Among the most keenly debated questions of the present time is the supply of gold available for monetary use and the probability or the reverse of that supply being maintained. In this subject Canada has a double interest, first, as a producer of some importance and, secondly, as a trading nation, whose aggregate in proportion to population is the second highest in the world, and whose people are necessarily intimately concerned with whatever is fundamental to world prosperity. In this connection much argument has been expended on the necessity for a more equitable distribution and employment of the existing stocks of gold. Along with this, however, has come a note of real actual shortage in the gold supply itself, mainly caused by the anticipation of an early reduction in the level of South Africa's output, the mainstay of the world in that respect during the last quarter of a century. For the total gold output of all the remaining sources of supply in 1929 when contrasted with the situation in 1903, showed a drop of nearly thirty per cent.

In the December issue of Natural Resources, the monthly publication of the Dominion Department of the Interior, the trend of world gold production is reviewed, and it is noted as of special interest from the Canadian standpoint that in the writings of almost all students of the gold situation "little or no importance has been attached to Canada's rising output. It is true," the writer admits, "that the Dominion's production has never bulked largely in the world's total output, but it has grown, and is continuing to grow, substantially. With gold being produced in larger quantities either from gold properties or from huge ore bodies in which gold is associated with other metals, it may well be that Canadian resources are destined to play a much more prominent part than has yet been foreseen, in offsetting the expected depletion of the South African goldfields and the threatened embarrassment of the world's monetary systems."

It is, therefore, with all the greater interest we learn from an editorial in the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph that in 1930 Canada produced more gold than any other country in the world except South Africa. It stepped up from third place to second place as a gold producer among the nations of the world. In so doing it "changed places with the United States. The Northern Miner estimates Canada's yield last year at over $42,000,000, and the yield of the United States at $41,000,000. For some years past, the American production has been gradually dropping and Canada's production gradually increasing. Not a single Ontario gold mine reduced or passed its dividend last year. One gold mine initiated dividends. One declared a 30 per cent. bonus. One declared an extra dividend. And still another resumed dividends after a lapse of two years.

Gold mining is thus an industry, the Chronicle-Telegraph continues, that, during 1930, grew in prosperity, contrary to the trend of most other industries. Incidentally, several of our most important gold mines are finding bodies of rich ore at unexpected depths. Developments in the new Blackfoot field seem to point to the beginning of a new and greater era in gold production. In the meantime, prices of base metals show signs of stabilization, so that we may be on the verge of an improvement in nickel, copper, lead and zinc mining. There is even some hope for silver. The action of Mr. E. M. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in taking the place of Lord Melchett on the board of the International Nickel Company is just another sign of the times. Those leading Canadians who have the most reliable sources of information show a reassuring confidence in the natural resources of the Dominion and their progressive development.

There is no doubt that advocates of a compulsory wheat pool have had their case seriously complicated by the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada denying the right of British Columbia to enforce control over tree fruits and vegetables raised in that province for consumption outside the province.

The principle involved is regarded as identical with that embodied in compulsory wheat pooling. If the ruling of the highest Canadian Court is upheld by the Privy Council it will mean that any compulsory pool legislation affecting sales outside the province of origin will have to be enacted by the Dominion Parliament.

In that body the great majority of members are not in direct touch with the sentiment of the wheat growing communities, nor are they partial to restrictions on the individual such as compulsory selling through a pool would impose. Perhaps nothing short of a referendum among those affected would pave the way for federal legislation on the subject. At any rate opinion in favor of compulsion among the farmers would have to be overwhelming and evident before it could be enacted here.

Federal pool legislation would also indirectly place upon the Dominion the moral responsibility with respect to prices and marketing that the Dominion would hesitate to accept from the provinces.

Sod Is Turned World's Grain Show Building

The ceremony of turning the "first sod" on the site for the beautiful building that will house the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference at Regina in 1932 took place a few days ago.

Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, in the presence of hundreds of citizens, officiated. He was assisted by Hon. W. C. Burke, Minister of Agriculture for Saskatchewan and chairman of the executive and finance committee of the Exhibition and Conference and Mayor James Baile, K.C., of Regina.

Premier Anderson and Mayor Baile, both spoke of the great benefits to agriculture which will accrue from this world-wide gathering and to the interest which is being aroused throughout the world in the 1932 Grain Exhibition and Conference.

Speaking of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, to be held at Regina in 1932, "The Canadian Colonizer" says: "A big field makes for keener competition, and it is anticipated that the arena of the new building will be the scene of many friendly battles for supremacy in the different classes. Former 'wheel kings' and 'corn kings' and a lot of other former 'grain kings' will certainly have to look to their laurels, because challenges are even now being thrown out and plans are being made in many parts of the world for international supremacy in the grain arena."

Melvin Notes.

Mr. Percy Rennie has moved back to the Shantz place again.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrant spent a few days in Calgary last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cuffling were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Krebs on Thursday last.

Miss Ethel Krebs spent last week with Miss Dorothy Youngs at Emmerdale.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Krebs are busy this week moving to Mr. Lee Swingle's place.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Morphy were dinner-guests at Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson's on Sunday.

Miss Eveleth White is visiting at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Youngs and family were entertained to a goose dinner by Mr. and Mrs. T. Duncan on Sunday.

Miss Marjory White, who has been nursing in India, is at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White.

Mr. Whiteside left on Monday for Duluth, Michigan, to visit his mother, who has been ill for some time.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Glen Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Irwin. Both families have a little daughter.

Miss Elizabeth Sutherland is spending the week with Miss Evelyn Webster and Mrs. John Kreuger.

Reserve March 20th for the plays, "Pa's New Housekeeper," and "Hans Von Smash," followed by a dance in Melvin School.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnston, and Randol visited with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Vetter at Three Hills last week.

The "Go-Getters" have 48 ft. of pennies. Anyone having pennies for the Club, hand them to Mrs. Krebs.

There must have been some misunderstanding between some of our young people last Friday night, for some went to Waterside to the dance, and the others to Elkton. (Ask Eddie and Vic.)

Mr. Chas. Foss and Edgar Wiggins had the social hour at the Club last Saturday night, and treated the crowd to a very fine bachelor supper. If any one needs help for cooking, we will know who to call.

On Saturday night, March 14, the juniors of Clovermount school are coming to Melvin to play games with the juniors here. There will be an admission fee of 10c, which will go to aid the Junior Red Cross.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to the many friends who so kindly helped us, and for the many floral contributions and expressions of sympathy tendered to us during our recent illness and bereavement.

HOW ONE WOMAN LOST 47 POUNDS OF FAT

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 215 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides."

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose, and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

"P.S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

Help yourself to PARKER House Rolls

Try this Recipe

1 cup scalded milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon sugar

1 tablespoon salt
1 Royal Yeast Cake dissolved in
1 cup lukewarm water

To the scalded milk add the butter, sugar and salt. Allow it to cool until lukewarm and then add dissolved yeast and 1 1/2 cups flour. Stir well and let stand in moderately warm place overnight. In the morning, add enough flour to knead, and let rise until about double in bulk, then roll out 1/2 inch thick. Cut with biscuit cutter and brush each piece with melted butter, crease through the center and fold over. Let rise again until double in bulk and bake for about 55 minutes in moderate oven. Above is sufficient for about ten rolls.

If you bake at home, write to Standard Baking Limited, Fraser Ave. & Liberty St., Toronto, for the free Royal Yeast Cake Book. It contains tested recipes for Lemon Buns, French Tea Ring, Dinner Rolls and many other delightful varieties of bread.

Soviets Are Barbarians

Treatment Of Men In Lumber Camps Makes Sickening Reading

The London Morning Post describes one of the "blessings" of the Soviet regime in Russia:

"All the world, except the socialist government, is aware that the Russian timber which is being dumped on these shores is felled and loaded by slave labor. This common knowledge is now confirmed and amplified in the report, properly attested before a commission of oaths, which three escaped prisoners have given of the conditions which they left behind them in one of the convict timber camps of Russia. The tale of misery and oppression of men deliberately starved, ruthlessly exposed to the rigors of climate and the ravages of disease, huddled together in nauseous encampments, goaded to their work at the pistol point by the secret police—it is a tale the sickening details of which must send a shudder of horror through the civilized world. The report enumerates 125,000 men working under these conditions of savage misdeeds in various timber camps—men whose only crime is that they belong to classes which happen to be obnoxious to the Muscovite tyranny. No priest, no one whom the caprice of Moscow choose to call a kulak, is exempt from the possibility of being haled away from his family one fine morning and sent to join the slave gangs. There has been nothing surpassing it since the days of Pharaoh and his taskmasters in Egypt."

To Improve Rail System

Russia To Spend Huge Sum To Place Railways On Efficient Basis

The Russian Soviet government is to transport an entire supervising force of 150 men from this country to put new railroad methods into effect, it was said by Charles A. Gill, who, as consulting engineer, will be directing head of the enterprise.

Gill is superintendent of motive power for the eastern lines of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and has been granted a year's leave of absence.

Into the hands of Mr. Gill and associates the Soviet has put the 1931 budget of $1,700,000,000 to place the far-flung Russian rail system on an efficient basis.

Big Attendance Expected

Eleven countries have officially accepted the invitation to participate in the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference, which is to be held at Regina, July 25 to August 6, 1932; namely, Italy, Peru, Yugo-Slavia, Guatemala, New Zealand, Czechoslovakia, Netherlands, Belgium, Poland, Siam and India. It is expected that fully 50 countries will have representatives present when the conference and exhibition opens.

Working At Eighty-Five

Homeowner In Olga District Saskatchewan Enjoys Excellent Health

An outstanding example of the successfulness of an old man to "beat the wolf from the door" comes with the activities of Canute Svennes, who celebrated his 80th anniversary January 27, this year.

Mr. Svennes at that advanced age is home-tending in the Olga district, Saskatchewan. He says it's never too late to get a little nest egg. He is staying with his son, also home-tending there.

Mr. Svennes does not boast about it, but he has his good hand muscles, and plenty of elbow grease, to earn his living, with a pick and crowbar. Starting in April, 1930, he covered a quarter section of land digging stones up, which averaged a cord to the acre. His work in the open air for three months brought him $150 a cord, and when he was through with this work, he went to harvesting, and later "brushing" out bluffs. At 85 he enjoys excellent health, is anxious for spring to open again, for he has another contract to "dig up stones" on another quarter section of land.

Liverpool Education Authority To Send Out Forty Youths To Dominion

The statement that the provincial governments of Canada had informed the British authorities of their ability to take 1,300 boys from Great Britain in the coming year, and would guarantee their placement on approved farms, was made at a meeting of the Liverpool education authority.

The Liverpool authority decided to send 40 boys to Canada. Presumably the announcement was an outcome of the recent conference of provincial representatives at Ottawa, but representatives in London, England, of the various provincial governments, appeared recently to have received no instructions in the matter.

Labor Troubles Across the Line

Says Unemployment In United States Is Growing Worse

Despite the strenuous efforts of the president, Col. Woods and others to reduce unemployment, the situation, according to William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, grows worse. "Unemployment," said Mr. Green today, "has increased since December, and 5,700,000 wage earners in the United States were out of work in the first part of January. This compares with 5,500,000 in December, and these figures do not include farmer labor or office workers."

Result Is Encouraging

Disarmament Conference Is Making Progress With Its Work

There is encouragement to be found in the results of the Disarmament Commission. The work has been going on for four years and more, and up till quite recently agreement did not seem probable on anything like such a scale as has now been achieved. A framework at least has been provided, and into that framework the World Disarmament Conference, when it meets, must build a more secure and substantial edifice. Only those who expect results far more rapid than the present outlook of the world permits need be depressed by the Commission's results.

MOTHER OF TWINS HELPED

Restored to Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ont.—"I had little twin babies and for quite a while after I was so weak I could not do my work because of pains all the way up my legs at the back. I also had headaches and got very little sleep. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon I was able to get up and do my work. I have taken three bottles and I am fine, do my work without trouble and am gaining in weight and strength. I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to anyone."—Miss F. THE DUSTY HIGHWAY

BY CHRISTINE WHITTING PARMENTER

Gay turned from the window, her throat aching with an intolerable pain. The lightning was intermittent now, and the thunder merely a distant growl. She went into her dusty kitchen and heated milk for baby Nick—gave Sonny his supper, and leaving the soaked dishes where they were, put both tired little boys to bed.

"Me wants Daddy," said Sonny sleepily, as she tucked him in. "Me wants Daddy—tebbin'."

Gay kissed him, and held him close.

"Mother wants Daddy, too, little boy," she said gently. "When you wake up he'll surely be here. Now go right to sleep. Think how glad Daddy'll be to see us in the morning."

She went into the next room, and for a long time busied herself with unimportant things, because she decided to go to the lonely rooms below. But at last she braved them, and an hour slipped by while she washed the dishes and cleared away the remains of Nick's hasty meal. She tried to eat something herself, but the food choked her. It was still raining, the shower having settled into a steady downpour that threatened to last all night. She swept the kitchen at last, and dusted the living-room and hall, her ears alert for the longed-for whirr of an automobile; but it did not come.

"I hope Nick took an overdose," she thought aloud. "He's so careless sometimes, and it was warm this morning. . . . I do hope they're almost home. . . . It must be horrible driving a car in such a rain. . . . I wonder if they took coats. This must will make slippery going. . . . I hope he won't drive too fast. . . . It's queer they're so late. . . . Perhaps—perhaps there's an accident."

She thrust back the thought in horror, but as such thoughts will, it kept returning, just as her steps returned to the window, although she could not see beyond the glass. At last, in an effort to calm herself, she tried to read, but the house seemed suddenly alive with noises; creaking boards that seemed like stealthy footsteps—branches snapping against the window panes, and occasionally a blind slapping in the wind that was rising fast.

None of these seemed midnight to her faint nerves. It came and passed, as she sat, and then eleven. Gay almost wished that her tired babies would awake and demand attention. Anything would be better than this solitude.

It was then that a sharp rap on the old brass knocker startled her. She ran to the door, but her hope that it might be Nick was dashed when she saw James Halliday standing on the porch. In the dim light his face looked grey and drawn, and a sickening fear swept over her that he had brought bad news. Then he said:

"Have you heard from your husband, Mrs. Hastings?"

He stepped inside, laying his wet hat upon a chair, while Gay led the way into the living-room, and sank down wearily. That moment of fear had wrought havoc with her newly nerved nerves.

"No," she answered. "He doesn't know I'm here. He wasn't expecting us till Wednesday; but we had a chance to come to-day by automobile, and it seemed best. Have you heard nothing, Mr. Halliday?"

He smiled grimly.

"I, too, was away, you know, and not expected until morning. We seem to be in the same box. Did you by any chance know anything about this trip?"

Then he hadn't known! No, thought Gay, they were not in the same box. And yet.

"Why, yes," she answered, pulling herself together. "Mr. Hastings telephoned me Friday night. He'd been dining with Mrs. Halliday, and said she expected some friends for the week-end, and wanted to take them to Mason's Falls. I thought that she wanted someone to drive the new car, and asked Nick to do it; but—"

But I understand from Julie Nippa—that that they went—alone."

It was the hardest thing that Gay had ever done, to face James Halliday then. But she did it, lifting her eyes honestly to his in a glance before which his own eyes dropped.

"I see," he said shortly, and arose, walking to the window and peering out into the night. He glanced at his watch, and coming back said down.

"The storm has probably delayed them," he observed, "and since they don't know we're here and will send no message, there is nothing to do but wait. Even then, I don't see how they can be much longer. Are you alone?"

"With only the children, but—but I shouldn't be nervous if they come soon."

He said, after a thoughtful moment: "I'm sorry, but I sent Julie home for the night when I returned. She'd been at the house all day, so I told her to go. If I realized that you were alone I would have sent her here."

It came to Gay in a surprising flash, that in spite of James Halliday's critical mouth and hasty action, he was really kind. He had come from his mother's funeral to find only an empty house, yet he was thinking not of himself, but of her. She looked up gratefully to find him brushing a weary hand across his eyes.

"You mustn't worry about me," she told him. "I'll go up pretty soon and sit with the babies. They're company, even if they're asleep. You ought to come to bed, Mr. Halliday. You've been through so much today."

He drew a quick breath, as if surprised at her sympathy.

"Thank you," he said simply. "It has been a hard day, and—"

He broke off suddenly, then added: "Mrs. Hastings, I think I ought to tell you something. I know we're both having the same thought—that an accident may have delayed them, because accidents are no uncommon thing. But I know anyway, that at three this afternoon they were all right. I—I saw them."

"Where?"

In her surprise the question broke from Gay's lips involuntarily, though in another moment she would have withheld it, for Halliday winced.

"My mother was born only a few miles from Anton Bay," he answered quietly. "I took her there today. There was a railroad crossing to pass on the way to the cemetery, and a freight train stopped us—a long freight. There was only the—the hearse, and—myself. My sister was too ill to go. While we were waiting an automobile came along beside us. It was Mrs. Hastings and your husband. Of course—they did not see me."

"Oh, no!" protested Gay, and her breath quickened. She saw the pitiful scene so vividly: the country railroad crossing—the hearse—the solitary "back" of the village livery, and the lonely man peering out of the depths of that stuffy vehicle at the wife who had refused him the comfort of her presence—looking her loveliest perhaps, and—and another man. . . .

Gay's firm white teeth caught in her under lip to steady it, as Julie's words came back to her. She saw Halliday pleading with his wife, saying: "Angela, I'd like you to go with me." For a moment the room seemed to revolve before her eyes—it was all

OPEN SORES

HEAL IN QUICKEST TIME KNOWN

"I had a sore on my leg that wouldn't heal. Then I used 'Sore-Salve' and it healed in five days."—A. J. Smith, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

"Sore-Salve" heals sores, burns, boils, cuts, scratches, insect bites, etc. All kinds of sores.

so terrible; and then, like a breath of life-giving air, a steady thought flashed through her: Nick was—Nick! She cleared her throat and spoke.

"I am so sorry, Mr. Halliday—my my husband should have had any part in causing the pain you must have felt. I understand—just what you have suffered; but—but I want to tell you something you may not realize: No harm will ever come to your wife through Nick. He's young, and sometimes thoughtless of conventions, but he's true as steel. He never had a mean or unlovely thought. Deep down in his heart (though he'd laugh at the idea himself), he's as chivalrous as any knight of old. So—whatever's happened, it—it won't be that."

The eyes she raised to him were those that Nick had said would "snatch a man right back from the jaws of Hades." The white light of truth in their clear depths was like nothing the man had ever seen. It caught his own eyes—held them for a moment. Then, as the thought swept through him that his fears had been not for his wife's safety, but for her sinister influence upon another man, his shamed gaze dropped.

He said, his voice repressed and steady: "I should have known that anyway, Mrs. Hastings, but—thank you for telling me. Perhaps we are unkindly upset. Two troubles sometimes make long delays, and if this shower struck them it would have meant long going. Do you want me to stay longer, or would you rather be alone? Surely we would have been noticed had they met with an accident after I saw them. The sensible things is to go to bed and to sleep."

"Could you?"

Electron Tubes

Silent Power That Performs Many Marvelous Duties

Industry is rapidly substituting beams of light for some of the clicking gears of its machines.

Electron tubes are introducing this silent power. The tubes are called the "Tron" tubes. Elio and Thyra, brother and sister of the well-known photo-electric "eye."

Some of them turn on street lights; read temperatures of hot furnaces; furnish automatic train control; turn out electric signs, and run a host of switches for motors.

The "Tron" tubes were described to the American Institution of Electrical Engineers by W. R. King, of the General Electric Company in New York.

Newspaper Advertising Profitable

British Radio Manufacturers' Association Makes Successful Deal

After years of experiment, officials of the British Radio Manufacturers' Association are convinced that newspaper advertising is the most productive form of sales promotion. The association, representing leading British radio and allied manufacturers, spent $3,000,000 in advertising in newspapers during 1929, it was announced recently, and during that period the manufacturers' turnover increased 40 per cent. "Scientific market research," said an official, "reveals that the investment of $5,000,000 has yielded dividends in direct business to the extent of $3,000,000."

Today's Best Story

Two hundred years ago, a Danish child of five, Christina Bonde, was the most-talked-of child in the world.

He was able to speak within a few hours of his birth, at ten months he could converse intelligently on most subjects, and when he was a year old he had become thoroughly acquainted with the Old Testament.

His health caused his death at the age of five.

Canada's Glacial Period

Covered With Ice a Mile Deep At One Time

A story of the time when the levels of the Great Lakes were 50 feet higher than today, and when the northern part of North America was covered with ice a mile deep, was told members of the Over-Seas Club by Dr. Thomas H. Clark, professor of paleontology at McGill University, Montreal.

Before the last glacial period, the Great Lakes did not exist, said Dr. Clark. Niagara Falls was non-existent and where Lake Ontario now lies was a river, called by geologists the Laurentian River, which followed the present course of the St. Lawrence River, but was longer. The country then had a milder climate than today, he said.

The glaciers left three lakes, one near the lower end of Lake Michigan, one near Lake Superior, and one near the lower end of Lake Erie. Later changes filled out the outlines of the lake system as we know it today, but at a higher level, said Dr. Clark.

The position of Niagara Falls is changing rapidly, said Dr. Clark, moving southward up the Niagara River at the rate of five feet a year, as the water breaks down the limestone at its edge.

After the melting of the glacier, the sea flowed in and covered the St. Lawrence valley, said Dr. Clark. Proof of this is found on Mount Royal, 600 feet above the present sea level, the finding of the skeleton of an Arctic whale at Smith's Falls, and the finding of marine fossils all throughout the area.

Miller's Worm Powders will purge the stomach and intestines of worms so effectively and so easily and painlessly that the most delicate stomach will not feel any inconvenience from their action. They recommend themselves to mothers as a preparation that will restore strength and vigor to their children and protect them from the debilitating effects which result from the depredations of worms.

Year's Consumption Of Coal

In a year locomotives on Canadian railways consumed 9,628,711 tons of bituminous coal; 11,409 tons of anthracite coal; 63,796,548 gallons of petroleum, and 25,383 cords of wood. Converting the oil and wood to the equivalent of coal according to thermal values, a total of 10,057,673 tons of coal is reached.

For Burns and Scalds.—Dr. Thomas Electric Oil will take the fire out of a burn or scald. It should be at hand in every kitchen so that it may be available at any time. There is no preparation required. Just apply the oil to the burn or scald and the pain will abate and in a short time cease altogether.

Regular Pains?

SOME women suffer more than others. Often, when there isn't any need for it, the pains peculiar to women may be relieved as readily as other pains for which Aspirin is intended. These tablets are always a big help at such times, and never the least bit harmful. (Aspirin does not depress the heart.)

Of course, you are familiar with the use of Aspirin for headache. It brings such prompt relief that sudden headaches needn't upset your plans. It will check a cold, or ease the sorest throat; and comfort the worst sufferer from neuritis and neuralgia.

When your head aches—from any cause—when a cold has settled in your joints or you feel those deep-down pains of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, take Aspirin and you can count on real relief.

If baby has COLIC

A CRY in the night. Colic! No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy. This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never harm. It is the sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it safe for frequent use.

And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than strong medicine meant only for adult use.

Little Help For This Week

"Wherefore, beloved, be diligent that ye may be found of Him in peace without spot, and blameless."

—2 Peter III, 14.

Thou must be true thyself. If thou the truth wouldst teach: Thy soul must overflow, if thou Another's soul wouldst reach; It needs the overflow of heart To give the lips full speech.

Think truly, and thy thoughts Shall the world's famine feed; Speak truly, and each word of thine Shall be a fruitful seed; Live truly, and thy life shall be A great and noble deed.

—Horatius Bonar.

We know no truth except by action. We can teach no vital truth except through the life. We cannot attain to the eternal joy except as we walk step by step in the path of actual duty and performance in which we walked who so gained its fulness, and sat down at the right hand of the Father.—Theodore S. Munger.

Mountain View Notes

Mr. Ellis Barnes motored to Lethbridge recently to attend the Oddfellows convention there. Mrs. Barnes and Mr. Wm. Conter accompanied him as far as Valcartier where they visited friends.

Following the dust-storm on Tuesday, we were visited by a blizzard of dust and snow. The six pupils of Mona school, who were brave enough to weather the storm, were seen at 9 p.m. in a closed car. (The didn't suit those of the mule ancestry) being driven home in comfort by a kind friend. These high winds are certainly factors in disseminating seed weeds, and no doubt, we will see weeds of an uncommon variety in our district this coming spring.

On Friday, March 6th, the East Local of the U.F.A. held their annual meeting in Community Hall at 8 p.m. Mr. Hugh Roberts, president for 1930, was the chief attraction. Mr. E. Cullen, secretary for a period of three years, gave the reports for 1930. Mr. Hugh Roberts was re-elected president for the coming year, and Mr. E. Cullen as secretary. Mr. E. B. B. succeeded Mr. B. J. Atkinson as vice-president. After the meeting, a whist drive was staged the winners being: Mrs. G. Tighe, and Mr. H. Conter. Consolation: Mrs. Benson and Master Stanley Mackey. Mr. Hugh Roberts acted as M.C. for the whist drive. After supper, dancing was indulged in. Mr. Max Woods acting as M.C. The "Fog Horn" Orchestra gave us splendid music, and Welsh, Canadian, and American folks all danced gaily, and a real community spirit was rampant throughout the Hall. Now, men of the East Local U.F.A. make your organization a real live one, and stand together, as Unity means Strength, which is greatly needed by the U.F.A. of Alberta. The men look to the ladies to furnish the luncheon, while the ladies depend on the men (to a great extent) to help solve the farm problems."

The district was visited by an unusually heavy dust-storm Tuesday last, the 3rd. The wind sent the dust across the country with great velocity, and any residence in its path received a full share of dust, which didn't sweeten the dispositions of various mild "Dance Van Winkles." One often hears that women are too previous. One such "previous" lady had well-nigh finished her spring cleaning operations as she thought her "gaid mon" would be on the spot now to do the few odd jobs. Now, ladies, this "previous" individual will never again attempt to clean so early, but leave this task till such time as dust storms have abated.

"CHARGE OF THE DUST BRIGADE"
"Thirty miles! thirty miles! thirty miles an hour."

Seed residents of Mountain View. A dust storm doth hover. Dust to the right of you! dust to the left of you!

Hilbert most things from you, As through the air it flew."

"Dust overhead of you! dust all around you!"

Flurried and flew. Bringing with you dust and snow, Boldly you come and go.

Under the window-sills, Giving the housewife ills—
OF indelible horror!"

E. Y. WOOD

Ernest Youlen Wood was born on the David Wood homestead in the town of Lincoln, about two miles west of Whitehall, January 1st, 1850. He graduated from Whitehall High School in 1907.

In 1911 he responded to the dominant call of his nature, and went to Alberta, Canada, where he took a homestead near Camrose. Later, he moved to Saskatchewan, where he met Miss Jessie Lyons, who had come there from Coshocton, Ohio, and on March 28th, 1922, they became husband and wife.

Five years ago they bought a ranch near Didsbury. On January 7th, 1931, he underwent an operation, and seemingly made rapid

In harmony with his wish, and that of his many relatives, his body was brought by his widow to Whitehall for burial, and interred in Whitehall Cemetery, where lie his father, grandfather, great-grandfather, and numerous other near relatives and friends. His funeral was held in the church, where at least, four generations of Woods have worshipped.

With a heritage such as "Ernie" Wood had, the world would expect him to be a good, clean, honorable man. And the world that knew him has not been disappointed. He was quiet, gentle, earnest, idealistic, and in his contacts with his fellow-men, invariably placed the needs and wants of others before his own. His youth blossomed in an atmosphere of piety and unostentatious devotion. His faith in the religion of his father he signified by uniting with the Baptist Church while still a young man.
